- Mother as a Caretaker

No one can care for us as a mother does. She selflessly takes care of her child since the day of birth. She knows all the needs of her child and can do anything to fulfil them. She is always there for her children. Whenever children get sick or ill, It is mother who takes care of them without concern about her health. For a mother, the wellbeing of her children is the utmost important, and she always ensures that her children remain safe and protected wherever they are. A mother provides all the comfort to her child. It is the mother who makes the home cheerful and safe for children. She is like a superwoman who can manage both household work and her responsibilities towards her children. Talking about mother, she is adorable and compassionate. Whenever child get sick, she gets concerned about child. She always takes care of child health and needs.

- Mother as a Best Friend

A mother is the first best friend of her child who instantly forms a special bond with the child just after his/her birth. She understands all the needs of her children and always tries to fulfil them. Mother is also best friend. In fact, Child can share all secrets and desires with her. She always understands their children and supports them. She play many games together with children, and our favourite game is Ludo. She happily loses the game so child can win. She knows what her children like and always makes them happy by cooking their favourite food. Children are fortunate to have mom as their best friend in life.

- Mother as a Mentor

A mother is not just a first best friend of a child but also his/her mentor who always supports and guides her children to achieve all the success in life. A great mentor is one who always teaches child what is right and what is wrong. A mentor not only supports you but also becomes strict with you when required. And we all can see these traits in our mothers.

Mother is truly mentor as she not only guides children in every phase of my life but also supports them whenever they need her. When they make any mistake, she becomes strict with them to make understand their mistake. But soon she showers her love on them and always supports them in their decision. She helps in studies and asks them to be serious about career. She teaches both cultural and moral values. There cannot be a better mentor than a mother because she knows what is right for children and always prefers the best for them.

- Mother as a Special Person of child's Life

After God, it is our mother who has the most special place in our hearts and our lives. Since the birth of a child, a mother forms a precious and special bond with him. Without thinking about herself, she thinks about her child and his happiness. She works day and night for her children so that she can make them happy. Motherhood is an integral part of a woman's life, and she selflessly gives her best to it.

A new born child recognizes her mother from her unique fragrance. And before we start speaking, our mother understands our needs through our actions. This is all because a mother and a child share a special bond, which cannot be described in words. All a mother wants is the betterment of her child and to achieve that, sometimes she supports her child and sometimes becomes strict with him. But her intentions are always pure and honest. She always wants the best for their children, and she does everything to give us the best.

When we grow, we want to spend our lives on our terms and in doing so, many times we misunderstand our parents. We become selfish sometimes and fail to understand her love, but she never complains or demands anything from us. All she wants is some respect and love from her child, and every child must provide that to her.

- Mother as a facilitator:

A child needs Love and affections, support, motivation, resources, knowledge, intellectuality, presence of mind, enthusiasm, creativity, rationality, discipline, culture, tradition etc., which are facilitated by Parents especially Mother. For her child is a material not only made of flesh, blood and skin but a substance for moulding them into good citizens. A Mother either she is literate or ill-literate facilitate them with all resources at best to fosterage them as finest in the world. Her love is incomparable with universal love's. She imparts her love by facilitating us in all ways and means from our birth to her death.

- Mother is selfish:

Almost all mothers are selfish, nurturing her child is utmost job for her. She sacrifices her personal life, carrier, health, family what not everything at the rate of child. Her self-motive is to raise the child as her replica without affecting the child's growth. Her destiny is child to be an allrounder, well-educated, well settled, happy and healthy for ever and ever.

Mother's love is eternal which is incomparable. No power is superior before her. As per Purnas and Vedas touching her feet daily provides lots of positive energy which doesn't allow any evil power to touch you. Mother's bundle of love never ends it starts from her womb and ends physically when she enters tomb, but her blessings always with the child until the child reaches the tomb. Mythology and religion make multiple references to the unconditional love between mother and child, and the power of motherhood in eternal.

- Mother's love is flawless:

A mother's love for her child is incomparable. It knows no boundaries or laws. It dares to go against everything else that is in its path. A mother's love for her child begins early – when she knew that you were growing in her womb. And her only mission was to keep child safe and happy. So, she flawlessly strives to mould child to the best.

- Modern Mothers:

Today's mother is more responsible as she plays different roles at home, office, society etc., but mother is mother there is no replacement for her love. Only the child will know how much his/her mother loves. It's only the child who was able to hear the mother's heartbeat from within her body. Behind this today's routine life disturbing the relation between child and mother. Selfishness, lifestyle, monetary issues, tedious routine, associations etc., are disturbing the relationships. There is a need to develop the sense of love overcoming the above flaws which are mortal by simple change of words and affections. Fill this world with love. If a child nurtures with love, he/she can face any hurdles balancing the emotions which they got from their mother.

CONCLUSION

Thus, mother's love is eternal sprinkle it all over, its fragrance creates positive energy which binds this universe with love and affection. To maintain peace in the world a Mother has to impart love eternally until she is alive, and she has to holding your hearts, even when she's gone. This love creates good energy which boosts every individual to love each other and there is no scope of wars. Present society needs Mother's love to protect this motherly world. All mothers has to start their mission of nurturing their children with love and affection to carry the positive energy into this world.
